was now grown a tolerably good tailor); and I gave him a cap which I made of hare's skin, very convenient, and fashionable enough; and thus he was clothed, for the present, tolerably well, and was mighty well pleased to see himself almost as well clothed as his master, It is true, he went awkwardly in these clothes at first; but a little easing them where he complained they hurt him., and using himself to them, at length he took to them very well.

The next day, after I came home to my hutch with him, I began to consider where I should lodge Mm; and, that I might do well for Mm, and yet be perfectly easy myself, I made a little tent for him in the vacant place between my two fortifications, in the inside of the last, and in the outside of the first. As there was a door or entrance there into my cave, I made a formal framed door-case, and a door to it of boards, and set it up in the passage, a little within the entrance; and^ causing the door to open in the
